

Matt Tully.

I am 23 years old, grew up in Montesano, Washington, and currently live in Ellensburg. My hobbies are musical theatrics and snowmobiling. I enjoy volunteer work, and all outdoor related activities. The thing that I enjoy most about the WCC is being able to work outside, and have the opportunity to truly help the environment.

Andrea Nesbitt.

I grew up in the lower Yakima Valley and recently graduated with a degree in Geography from Central Washington University. While working with the WCC, I also work weekends at the Renewable Energy Center at the Wild Horse Wind & Solar Facility. I enjoy writing, drawing, skiing, hiking, mountain biking, horseback riding, most sports, and anything else that involves being outdoors. After working for the WCC, I hope to get a job in plant or wildlife biology, environmental education, renewable energy, or natural resource management.

Mike Proffman.

I am 23 years old. I was born in Seattle, Wa. I graduated from Ballard High School and later from Central Washington University with a degree in Mathematics and Geology. I enjoy being outside, snowmobiling, and playing sports. The WCC has been a great learning experience for practical environmental conservation work.

Gabrielle Stilwater.

I am 24 years old. A native of Yakima, I am a graduate of Central Washington University with a Geography major and minors in Geology and Environmental Studies. When not planting trees, I enjoy swing dancing, hiking, reading and playing ultimate Frisbee. One of my many environmental interests is water resources in the Northwest. Working for the WCC has been a great learning experience and I love getting to work outdoors.

Horace Ward.

I am 18 yrs old, and an Honor scout w/ boy scouts. I am a captain in the U.S. Army Jr rote. Whether I'm hiking, camping or off-roading, my home is in the outdoors. By Joining the WCC I look forward to gaining multiple skills through our rigorous work and training throughout the year which I would like to use towards my dream job/ future career as a U.S. Forest Ranger.

Kirk Sandberg.

I am 25 years old, and a graduate of Northeastern Illinois University. My degree is in justice studies with minors in natural resources and social work. I worked for the WCC last year as the assistant supervisor. I am presently the supervisor for this year's crew. Hobbies are outdoor oriented in which I spend as much time bicycling and fishing as possible.
